MURKIN

[redacted] who was captured [redacted] after escaping from Missouri State Penitentiary, is currently [redacted] and during re-interview on June 14, 1968, he advised as follows:

It is much easier to [redacted]. He said he is not familiar with contacts in Toronto, but is [redacted] He advised that there is no difficulty in passing over to Canada from the United States. [redacted] and perhaps light "dope" such as marijuana. He is the type of person [redacted] describes as a "hustler". [redacted] advised that [redacted] understands this is furnished through a [redacted] stated he was also told this [redacted] to validate the record should any question arise. He said he doubts this, and it could be it was used as a "come along".

[redacted] fills out the [redacted] and puts [redacted] If you do not know a [redacted] he will provide the name of one and [redacted]. The cost of a [redacted] runs from $25 to $150 depending on the amount of work [redacted] said his [redacted] was applied for on Friday and it was furnished to him by [redacted] on the following Monday or Tuesday ready to be [redacted]

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

[redacted] advised that the best method, and the one he would have used had he had a chance to study the matter, is as follows: [redacted]

[redacted] he did not actually use it because he studied the system in the meantime, and then sent his [redacted]

He said it is also possible to obtain [redacted]. A person does not actually live to have [redacted] as this requirement will be waived.

In connection with "crossing over" to Canada, [redacted] said this presents no problem. He said the first time he crossed it was at Plattsburg, New York, about nine or ten days after he escaped [redacted]. He had hitchhiked a ride from New York City. He showed a drivers license he had as identification. He believed it was in the name of [redacted]. This time he was asked why he was going to Canada and for how long. He said he replied he was going for two weeks if his money held out. [redacted] stated he went back and forth six or eight times while he was an escapee, and except this once, he was never questioned or required to show any identification. He said the best plan is to pick one of the busiest places to cross. This could be the International Bridge at Detroit, Michigan, and at Plattsburg, New York.

[redacted] also advised persons entering Canada in a fugitive status like to leave the United States from a busy airport such as New York City, and go to Montreal. He said customs are so busy they merely spot check certain passengers and do not ask for identification.

[redacted] advised that the information he has was picked up by him by reading regulations and [redacted] and the system is not hard to understand.

[redacted] advised that [redacted] He said he met some of these but [redacted] said he recalled one "hustler" who was [redacted] and can get about anything one would want in the way of [redacted]. He stated [redacted] also traffics in prostitution and may handle a little "pot".

Another associate of [redacted] deals in "dirty pictures, pot, and generally hustles" for [redacted] He said this man is a "blatant homosexual".

Another associate [redacted] He has been "rapped" in Montreal for "hot" cars.

[redacted] said he was arrested and put in jail at Ottawa, Canada. [redacted] came to see him and offered him a lot of services for a price. He wanted $350 and took care of some things for [redacted] He said for another $1000 he could get [redacted] but he sent this message through [redacted] as the Canadian authorities would not let him re-visit [redacted] advised he turned down the offer of [redacted] and stated he was deported on [redacted] Therefore, [redacted] would have had a visit with him between July 1 and August 9, 1967. [redacted] further advised he was using the name of [redacted] while living in Canada.
